

Senior academician (Currently Vice President for Development and Dean of the Faculty of Business and Insurance at the Lebanese German University) with 3 decades of experience in administrative functions, education management, research & development, business generation and management consultancy amongst others across diverse organizational domains like banking, finance, public sector, trade and consultancy. Multi-cultural with proven ability to work with people from different backgrounds and ethnic origins. Publisher of 40 scientific papers in international referred journals and 4 books with renowned international publishers. Publications primarily focus on Business, Economics and education management.