

Mustapha is currently pursuing his bachelor's degree in economics with a minor in business at the American University of Beirut (AUB). During his time at college, Mustapha was part of establishing the UNICEF club at AUB after which he went on to join the Lebanese Economic Association (LEA) as a project manager and board member. At LEA, Mustapha established himself as an economist and researcher by working on several topics for the public and the government including but not limited to : The impact of the Syrian refugees on the Lebanese economy and assessment of the policy response of the government, housing crisis and rental laws in Lebanon, decentralization, public financial literacy, entrepreneurship and youth employment and public policy review. Mustapha has shown flexibility in his skills, of which analysis being his key capability. Mustapha works well within teams, officials, partners and independently.